2022 ANNUAL REPORT

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF
JUVENILE AND FAMILY COURT JUDGES

A Note of Gratitude & Reflection

A MESSAGE FROM
JOEY ORDUÑA HASTINGS, CEO NCJFCJ

2022 was a banner year for the NCJFCJ as the organization celebrated its 85th anniversary. In 1937 a group of juvenile court judges gathered in Indianapolis, Indiana, with a shared vision of strengthening the juvenile court system. Over the subsequent eight and a half decades the NCJFCJ has become an established leader in the development and implementation of policy and practice for our nation's children, families, and survivors of violence, and we are extremely proud to be the oldest judicial membership organization in the country.

This year we also celebrated the 40th anniversary of the long-term partnership of the NCJFCJ and the National CASA/GAL organization. NCJFCJ leaders and members have played a significant role in supporting local CASA/GAL programs and services for children and families in need.

A few additional highlights from the year include:

- Commemorating the reauthorization of the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA). The NCJFCJ issued multiple resolutions in support of VAWA's reauthorizations and our Days on the Hill delegates continue to educate lawmakers and their teams about VAWA. The NCJFCJ's 2021-2022 President Judge Hiram Puig-Lugo and 2019-2020 President Judge Ramona Gonzalez attended the White House VAWA commemoration ceremony in March.
- Launching the second edition of Reasonable Efforts: A Judicial Perspective together with author and 2002-2003 NCJFCJ President Judge Leonard Edwards (Ret.).
- Establishing a new annual award and scholarship recognizing exemplary service on behalf of children and families in the court system. The award is named in honor of Judith Horgan who was the first recipient. The award is given in March at the National Conference on Juvenile Justice.

- Launching the new Resource Center on Child Sex Trafficking and the Courts.
- Collaborating with Penguin Young Readers and Too Small to Fail, the early childhood initiative of the Clinton Foundation, to distribute more than 25,000 children's books to courts across the country as well as domestic violence resource centers, juvenile detention centers, and the American Indian Family Center.
- Releasing the revised Chapter Four of the NCJFCJ's seminal 1994 publication Model Code on Domestic and Family Violence.

Looking ahead, the NCJFCJ's leadership team has been creating the roadmap to reach new heights over the next 15 years. Board directors and NCJFCJ leadership engaged in a strategic planning process throughout the year, and the team is actively defining a vision for the NCJFCJ at 100 years.

The longevity that the NCJFCJ has achieved, and the positive impact that we continue to make, is only possible with the support of our membership, team members, partnership organizations, faculty, and sponsors. Thank you for supporting our work to improve the lives of the families and children who seek justice.

With gratitude,

Joey Orduña Hastings

NEW MEMBER PROFILE

Dave Thomas Foundation for Adoption

The NCJFCJ welcomed the Dave Thomas Foundation for Adoption as an organizational member in 2022. With headquarters in Dublin, Ohio, the Dave Thomas Foundation for Adoption is a national nonprofit public charity committed to finding forever families for children in foster care. Its national programs, such as Wendy's Wonderful Kids®, Adoption-Friendly Workplace™ and National Adoption Day, work to achieve the vision that every child will have a permanent home and a loving family. Through Wendy's Wonderful Kids, the foundation supports the hiring of adoption recruiters who serve children and youth who have been waiting in foster care the longest. A rigorous, five-year national evaluation revealed that a child referred to the program is up to three times more likely to be adopted.

The Foundation's mission and vision align with the NCJFCJ's history of supporting safe and healthy environments for children. Both organizations are committed to exhausting all efforts to keep families intact because children and youth deserve safe and loving homes.

Diversity, Equity & Inclusion

The NCJFCJ has identified diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) as its number one strategic priority since 2018. Diversity in the judiciary is vital to upholding public trust and confidence in the legal system, and the NCJFCJ is committed to diversity in every aspect of its composition and in performing its mission.

In 2022 the NCJFCJ demonstrated this commitment in a variety of ways. Throughout the year the organization issued a broad collection of research, trainings, and publications focused on advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion for court-involved youth and survivors of abuse. Together with the National American Indian Court Judges Association (NAICJA), the NCJFCJ issued a resolution addressing the crisis of missing and murdered indigenous peoples. NCJFCJ directors, leadership, and team members also advanced the organization's ongoing, long-term DEI initiatives.

RESEARCH, TRAININGS, AND PUBLICATIONS

This year, the National Center on Juvenile Justice (NCJJ) redesigned the Disproportionality Rates for Children of Color in Foster Care dashboard to make use of more interactive data displays with improved options for exporting images and data. The web-based resource allows users to examine more than 10 years of data about disproportionality among the foster care population, including overall trends in the foster care population, annual maps comparing the level of disproportionality for each race/ethnicity group, state trends in the level of disproportionality for each race/ethnicity group, and the annual level of disproportionality for children in, entering, and exiting foster care.

The Youth and the Juvenile Justice System: 2022 National Report includes data on gender, age, and racial variations in youth arrests, delinquency cases, and residential placements. The NCJFCJ published a technical assistance brief to support judges and professionals interacting with dating violence among LGBTQIA+ youth, along with a brief on using data to promote equity in juvenile drug treatment courts.

In addition to DEI-focused sessions at the National Conference on Juvenile Justice and the NCJFCJ's 85th Annual Conference, the organization led webinars throughout the year addressing topics that included death by suicide among black youth, effectively serving survivors with disabilities, abuse in later life, courts in the era of #WeToo, legal protections for immigrant children who are victims of human trafficking, and enhancing equity and justice in domestic violence cases.

ONGOING INITIATIVES

Since convening organizations to form the DEI Collaborative in 2019, the NCJFCJ continues to play a significant role in the group of national organizations serving the justice system. Together, the partner organizations are moving forward in addressing the largest gaps and opportunities to diversify the judicial and legal profession. Through legislative work, including the annual Days on the Hill meetings, the NCJFCJ continues to educate national leaders and their teams about legislation affecting DEI in relation to the courts, the juvenile justice system, and survivors of violence.

The NCJFCJ Internal Diversity Workgroup is made up of team members working together to identify opportunities to strengthen the NCJFCJ's internal DEI efforts with staff training, education, and activities. These efforts in many ways mirror and support the work of the NCJFCJ Diversity Committee which is led by board directors. The committee plays a vital role in the implementation of the NCJFCJ's Diversity Action Plan, and the members work to identify and address organizational issues of diversity in membership, leadership training and programs, publications, outreach, public relations, committees, and staffing to ensure a diverse workforce.

There Can Be No Justice Without Addressing the Crisis of Missing and Murdered Indigenous Peoples

A Joint Statement from the NCJFCJ and the National American Indian Court Judges Association (NAICJA)

NCJFCJ and NAICJA support protections for Native American people who are victims of any form of violence, including domestic abuse, sexual abuse, and human trafficking. We call for fully funding data collection, analysis, and investigations, and for collaboration among Tribal Nations, urban American Indian organizations, and state and federal partners to ensure protection for Native American families and children. We support all federal, state and tribal efforts to solve MMIP cases, including the development and use of tools such as meaningful prevention, intervention and survivor services developed in collaboration with Tribal Nations and urban tribal organizations, full-faith and credit enforcement of civil protection orders, and safe housing programs.

Native American peoples have diverse languages, cultures, values, and ceremonies that are resilient and healing. NCJFCJ and NAICJA recognize and encourage a trauma-responsive and culturally humble approach to engaging Native American families and children in order to mitigate systemic harm, and to allow for a place of healing through the sacred aspirations of justice. We encourage and support training for our state partners on Native historical trauma, tribal sovereignty, the dynamics of domestic violence and human trafficking, and full-faith and credit enforcement of civil protection orders. To address the MMIP crisis, we encourage and support tribal and state partnerships that are based upon respect of sovereignty, tribal culture, humility, humanity, and solution-oriented approaches.

Resolution on Strengthening the Role of Judges Who Handle Juvenile Justice Cases Statewide

The NCJFCJ believes that an experienced, knowledgeable, active judiciary is the foundation of local and state juvenile justice systems that promote public safety, positive youth outcomes, and system equity. The NCJFCJ encourages all states to launch formal court improvement initiatives designed to strengthen the statewide structure, selection, training, support systems, and accountability systems for judges who handle delinquency cases to ensure such leadership is in place.
